

Isekai Tensei wa Haran ni Michitemasu - WN Chapter 01-03

Table of Contents

1. Chapter 1 – Reincarnated to a Different World
2. Chapter 2 – The Dead and the Dead
3. Chapter 3 – The Sky Champion and.....

Chapter 1 – Reincarnated to a Different World

Chapter 1 – Reincarnated to a Different World

I think I have probably died. My body was twisted in an impossible direction and my blood seemed to splash across the sky.

If my memory serves me right, I was hit by a truck. When that truck was making a right turn at the crossroad, a girl who was holding a ball in her hand dashed out to the crossroad at the same time.

In a split second, I moved my body and pushed the girl away forcibly. Unfortunately it was already too late at that time. The incoming truck had hit and sent me flying.

My whole body was assaulted with such acute pain when I was flung against the ground. I felt like all the air have escaped my lungs as I exhaled and vomited blood out.

It is painful.

It is seriously painful.

Though, my consciousness has become dim and I was unable to think of anything else anymore.

Aaa~ I had lived through a boring 16 years of life. I can't even get a girlfriend, was terrible in sports and also bad in studying.

I was only good at one particular RPG game. But this is the end now. See you, my beloved MMORPG.

.
.
.

I thought that I have died. No I am not dead yet.

It was not possible for me to come back to life.

A pure white world.

There were nothing around. I didn't seem to feel my body too. Only my consciousness was there.

Is the afterworld like this?

“Our lord. Are you prepared to restart your life again?” [???

Somehow I was faced with an absurd question.

I have selected ‘Yes’ as a response.

It was a promise that I will be reincarnated to a different world. I had always been envious of such protagonist. Furthermore if I were to answer no, I might be in greater trouble since I wouldn't know what I should do from now on.

“Fumu~ our lord, that choice is unquestionable but it will be no problem. Then you will go through the reincarnation now so just close your eyes. It should not be painful.....” [???

I felt that my entire body was forcibly drawn somewhere and all the contents in the inside seemed to spring out.

My entire figure was turned around from side to side in the pure white world and I slowly lost my consciousness as I felt my body getting sucked somewhere.

.

.

.

The world changed at the next moment. A vast grassland, clear blue sky and also animals that look like monsters. It was a completely perfect other world.

“I have finally.....came to a different world.”

What I was dreaming of has finally become a reality so I am over the moon. I'm so happy with the different world! A different world. This should be a world with cat girls (nekomimi shoujo) or elves so I am definitely ecstatic. However, there was something that I was unable to understand.

Why am I a zombie? My clothes were all tattered and torn all over. My face and body seemed to be fine but I was thirsting for blood for some reason. Even though I am a zombie, I didn't think that I will have the impulse to eat flesh but.....

I am really hungry.

Due to the urge building up inside me, I aimed at the harmless beast in front of me.

A rabbit was right within my sight. Even though I called it a rabbit, it was actually 30 centimeters in size but a food is food. That was all.

I stealthily moved my feet and held my breath.....my current condition was even more similar to a beast than the rabbit. I slowly closed the gap with the rabbit. As I got closer I could hear its soft breathing and heartbeat. Then, I pounced.....

I was surprised by my own speed. As fast as a cheetah catching its prey, I caught the rabbit by digging my fingernails into the neck and tore it off.

A tremendous amount of blood splattered out and the rabbit died instantly but it was unbearable. Just looking at the blood made it hard for me to control my impulse as I scrapped off the fallen flesh with my bare hands.

I want to roast it. I want to eat well-cooked juicy meat and some sauce to go along.

Though such luxury wouldn't be available.

To be honest, it was quite tasty. While eating it raw, the grease drips from the flesh every time I chew on it.

However it was not sufficient to satisfy my appetite so I begin searching my surrounding. From a distance I found a boar monster that looked stronger than the rabbit.

It looks strong.

It might have sense my killing intent from the opposite side so its eyes matched with mine. The opponent started emitting killing intent too. My craving for his flesh to satiate my appetite made me release even stronger murderous impulse. In the end, the boar like monster seemed to strain itself as it dashed at me.

It looked monstrous in the beginning however in reality it was only the speed.

“It’s coming now.....It’s time for the hunt.”

My impulse burst out like earlier as I watched it charging at me.

It’s good.

My body felt comfortably light.

As I moved around I realized that I was able to move all my joints and nerves as I like. I dashed towards the boar like monster as well to fight against it.

DON! The great impact with the flesh seemed to crush even the bones. Even though the boar monster was not completely defeated, it might have not been able to endure the power thus causing it to stagger. Despite that, it recovered quite fast and tried charging at me again.

“I win.”

I uttered out a line that was taken from somewhere and kicked the ground with all my might to jump up. I sprung up roughly 4 meters in height and released my drop kick right on the boar monster’s head, causing it to sink to the ground. As my foot delivered the blow to its head, a loud sound of skull cracking could be heard. The boar like monster ended up dying tragically.

Well should I eat it now?

Have I quit becoming human?

No, despite being zombie, I still plan on keeping my heart as a human.

However somehow I knew that I am not a human any longer since I crave for raw flesh. Uwa~ my motivation has disappeared.....but was what I wanted to say.

“Raw flesh is seriously tasty. This boar monster’s meat smells slightly bad but it is thick and chewy.”

Well I seem to have eaten considerably a lot. Should I try looking for a village?

First of all I will need to wash off the blood from my clothes. Or should I steal someone’s clothes? In that case, I will have to take it from a human.

I don’t really want to fight but it can’t be helped if I am in this outfit, am I right? Right?

I will have no choice but to do it since it is a lot quicker than washing my clothes.

If I will be doing it then it would be best to aim for the bad guys. Are there thieves in this world? I pondered about it as I crossed the vast grassland.

At times, strong wild insects and birds came out. (TN: reminded me of Pokemon) The birds were of course eaten since they were delicious but as one would expect, I do not feel like eating insects.

.....What? Are you asking me to eat them? I don’t want to. That’s because they look like humongous looking spiders. I don’t want to see those. Furthermore the thread shot out by the spider monster was super sticky and the thought of it opening its jaw sent chills down my spine even though I am a zombie.

I have not mentioned it previously but I seemed to be fine even though I was hit by the rays from the sun. Since my flesh do not rot, I am completely different than the zombies found in most games.

(TN: I thought that only applies to vampires? =_ =;)

Anyway the important thing now is the bandits. They should start appearing soon. There should be a scene whereby a beautiful girl screamed “Kyaaa~ Please save me!” so I can jump in and rescue her from the bandits. Wait, hold on.....right now I am not myself.

I haven't thought about it but.....I might be quite lucky. Some distance away, I sensed that there was something amiss. I did have a lucky divination this morning.....even though I was blown off to another different world.

Anyway, should I go help? Or should I just keep watching? Well even if I keep watching, I will ended up helping anyway.

I shut my eyes and tried to sense for any living being around. I had just realized it earlier but I was able to detect life forms by concentrating my senses.

Once I shut my eyes, somehow the image and location will be transmitted to my brain.

I could see a large or strong object in red and another weaker object in blue.

And.....are the yellow ones humans? However they are quite far from here.

(TN: Instead of clear images, the image portrayed in his brain might be colored objects)

There are roughly 5 yellows.

Are there enemies among them? Three of them were brandishing knives.

Since this skill is able to tell me this much, it is really convenient for me.

“Please wait for me. I’ll be saving you right away.”

I focused all the strength in my body. Don’t underestimate me. My body’s state switched to serious mode. All my body’s senses instantly became abnormally sharp since I can feel all my nerves. I put all the forces to my leg, kicked the ground and dashed off to the scene.

The speed is not comparable to myself in the old world at all. I wouldn’t be surprise even if I am able to win the Worldwide Marathon Championship. All I could feel now was the strong wind brushing against my face.

By the way I am wishing that the person that I will be helping to be a woman. I would save a man too but I would not feel too happy about saving a man.

Even after running a dozen meters, my body still felt light. However something felt amiss in the area right ahead. A horse carriage was toppled sideways and luggage were scattered all over the ground. A pair of mother and daughter were seen tearfully apologizing. The girl seemed to be taken hostage by someone who looked similar to a bandit.

“Please don’t do anything to the girl! I beg of you. I’ll do anything so please release her!” [Girl’s Mother]

The girl was also crying when she saw her mother pleading for her.

“Haa~? What the heck are you talking about. I don’t need the mother! Lately I have many young brats as customers. They seemed to like these types so I might be able to sell her to them for a good value.” [Bandit A]

Was it bribery?.....It’s the type that I hate the most. Should I just kill them?

I could feel the blood rise in my head. Without realizing it, I jumped out and reveal myself.

“Alright, just hear this okay!? What good will it be having so much money?! Should I just let you guys who torment the poor girl die here?”

I made a mistake....Why did I jump out all of the sudden?

Couldn't I think of a better solution than this?

I guess it couldn't be helped. Anyway when I took a look at the guy who was holding the girl hostage, I could tell that he enduring as much as possible but he was at boiling point now. He looked as if he is about to pounce at me any moment.

I wanted to save the girl right away however if I do anything rash here, she might be killed.

“You bastard, do you know the consequences if you go against us in our own territory?! You are a fool. You should know what will happen if you make me angry.” [Bandit A]

“Ahahahahaha! Sorry I don't know whose territory is this. Are you a small fry here? It's scary right?.....Well that is given since you will be killed by someone who has blood stain all over his body. Itadakimasu!”

I licked the blood stain off my hand and glared at the bandit as if I have marked the prey that I am about to kill.

Chapter 2 – The Dead and the Dead

Chapter 2

The desire for blood overwhelmed me and I started emitting the aura of a predator to the surrounding, causing the monsters around the area that sensed the danger to flee.

They must have understood the principal of a predator. Animals might be classified as a smart class.

Thus when the atmosphere was reversed, the bandits understood that a fight is imminent. The bandit who was holding the girl hostage was aware of it so he released the girl and directed his knife at me instead. The other two bandits unsheathed their sword and took a battle stance as well.

“Heh-heh, I can sense quite a power coming from you.....but we can use magic here.

The distance between us can be shortened within just a blink of an eye.” [Bandit A]

Was he just trying to bluff his way out since he had no chance of winning? No he might have really been planning to strike with magic. The bandit held out a cane and started chanting something, ergo something strange begin to gather around the area.

“Scorching flame from the hell with the power of destruction, destroy the enemy. Fire Burn!” [Bandit A]

A fireball emerged from the tip of the cane and began to increase in size.....I have a bad feeling from this. The size of the fireball was initially similar to the size of a ball on a palm but it gradually grew to a size huge enough to envelope my entire body.

“Run away! That person was previously a C-rank magician! If any human is burnt by that fire they will definitely die!” [Girl]

The girl that was taken hostage earlier looked stiffed when she perceived danger.

Even though my body was usually able to evade it naturally, it was impossible to avoid it from that distance. If I were to receive the hit directly, I don't think I will escape unscathed however I would like to give it a try. I am interested to know if I will die when I am burnt or how much pain will I feel so it is inevitable. I am still not familiar with my own body structure currently so it will be good to test it out.

Thus I was hit by the flying fireball. Un! It hurts. It was quite painful but not to the extent of dying.

“Hyahyahya! It's a direct hit! He must have been burnt to a cinder. He'll definitely die.” [Bandit B]

“True.....it is unlikely he will still be alive.” [Bandit A]

“You, for you to use a C-rank magic all of a sudden.....as expected you are strong.” [Bandit C]

The girl was on the verge of breaking out in tears. It was really hard for her to see someone who had come to rescue her ended up getting killed cruelly right in front of her. She cursed herself as she was overwhelmed with a sense of guilt.

“Oioi.....please don't write me off as dead as you like. There's no way I will die. Has your turn ended? Then the next is my turn.”

I shook my body as if shaking off sparks and the column of fire gradually vanished. My clothes were burnt of course. My lower body was not hit so it was still fine but my upper body was completely naked.

I am slightly embarrassed.

The group of bandits stared at me. Even when they had released such a powerful attack, there didn't seem to be a single scratch on my skin. Our situation was reversed in an instant. The bandit who sounded almighty a while ago started retreating a few steps back in panic.

Were they that afraid? The girl had a mix expression of joy, shock and also disbelief on her face.

I “appeared” in front of the bandit leader (Bandit A) instantly. By using my agility, I had created an illusion as if I had somehow teleported or appeared in front of him in an instant. At that moment, I managed to catch him off guard and gave him a blow to the body, strong enough to shake the air.

The bandit leader was silenced immediately while showing a disbelief look as he was completely unaware of the attack at all. As swift as lightning, I gave a roundhouse kick to another bandit nearby, causing him to be blown off a few meters away, leaving long trail on the ground.

After becoming a zombie, I felt that it was difficult to control my strength.

“Then the other person.....”

The Magician who was the farthest away acting rear guard was trembling in fright. However the atmosphere surrounding him changed as he started chanting.

“Holy light, destroy the person who has become the tools of devil.....” [Bandit/Magician C]

“You’re slow.....Disappear!”

I performed a right cut straight to his face. The sound of something breaking could be heard as fresh blood scattered through the sky. For some reason the magician’s pants seemed to be wet even though the liquid dripping out isn’t blood.....as expected I didn’t want to elaborate it.

At that very moment, I realized that it was really easy to just kill someone in this world.

I do understand that we will not be able to avoid killing if we are living with monsters or bandits however the opponents that I am facing now are still humans.

I faced the bandits' corpse. Perhaps I shouldn't have killed them.....

As I was feeling slightly remorseful, a small pair of arms could be felt wrapped around my neck from behind....

“Thank you for saving me.....Also, please don't be so sad about it.”

It was the girl. The hands felt really warm. It calmed my heart. Aa..
...I did save a life too.

“My name is Erie. Nice meeting you.....erm.....” [Erie]

“Me? I'm Satou Ryuuta. Just call me Ryuuta.” [Ryuuta] (TN: I finally know his name!!)

“Eto, Ryuuta. Ryuuta right?” [Erie] (TN: It is the same but the first was in hiragana and the second time she pronounce it in katagana)

I was slightly hesitant but I don't feel like correcting it so it was fine either way.

“And the merchant there is my mother, Ayane.” [Erie]

“Nice meeting you, Ryuuta-san.” [Ayane]

Once the situation has settled down, I received the bandits' clothes.

Since the carriage has been completely damaged and no longer usable, we went to a nearby village by foot after a short chat.

As I do not know anything about this new world, I travelled together with Erie and her mother. Based on Erie's explanation, this world consists of five different worlds.

First of all was the Human World. It's the place where the humans and all are coexisting and living now.

The next is Heaven. It's the world where Angels reside.

After that is the God's World. It's where Gods live.

In contrast to Heaven and God's World, there are also two final places called Hell and Underworld.

Hell is a place where Demons' are staying and Underworld is a place governed by Satan. The Underworld is also where humans go to when they die.

In addition, all five worlds are closely linked with a monster as their respective representative.

During the Great War the last time, the Hell has crashed into the Human's World. At that time the dark matter from the Hell that had went through mutation in the Human's World turned into monsters. However, Demon and monsters are two totally different existences as Demons are really strong to the extent that they are both incomparable.

A guild was then started not long after that in the Human's World when they deemed monsters' existences to be dangerous. The guild then expanded throughout the years and there are now over 10 different types of guild. A few of the examples would be the Fighter's Guild and Magician's Guild.

Erie is also working as a cleric in one of the guilds. She is able to use magic but her main forte is healing and detoxification magic.

The guild in the Human World currently has grown really powerful that they were already established at various different places in the Human's World, providing facilities and quests for adventurers to take on.

It was just a general explanation so I think I will explain the remaining details only in future.

Even though we had walked a considerable distance ever since the incident earlier due to the broken carriage, it still appeared to be quite a long way to the village so we will need to camp out for the night. Erie and her mother were merchants so it seemed like they already had plenty of experience camping out.

Not knowing what I can do to help, I just stood there watching them. Should I help in something? Although it appears that they will be fine even without my help. There was nothing else I could do so I went to forage for food in the vicinity.

Although the area in the vicinity was still quite bright, we will need to finish pitching the tents and other preparations else when the night falls, the nocturnal monsters might be a hindrance.

While wandering around in the area, I managed to kill the rabbits and birds like creature and secured them as ingredients. Then as I went further, I found a river nearby. The amount of fishes I caught is so huge that it was similar to an all-you-can-eat buffet.

Just as I finished securing the ingredients, the sun has set and the sky became dark. Thus I went back to the tent proudly with all the secured food as instructed by Erie. A smile floated over Erie's face upon my return while Erie's mother watched over us warmly from the side.

“Delicious!.....This is a taste that I can only get from grilled meat.”
[Ryuuta]

On hearing what I said, Erie thought it was weird so she looked at me. Shit! Although, I started thinking that it should be fine if it's Erie. So I confided to her.....that I am a corpse and I came from another world.

She found my first half unbelievable but she somehow understood my second half part.

“Errm....if it is possible would you be able to show me the ability? Ah you might dislike it. Since if you show your ability, the other person might find out your weakness.” [Erie]

Well I don't think that is a problem to me. Erie took a paper out from her bag. Then she recited a chant and casted onto the paper.

“Please reveal his states in this paper.” [Erie]

Then paper that was blank a while ago is now filled in with characters. The information is then recorded inside.

Name: Ryuuta Satou

Occupation: Corpse

Race: Former Human

Style: Fighting.

Stats: HP: 37000 MP: 5000

Offensive Power: ????? < - (for some reason the characters are garbled)

Magic Power: 200

On seeing the stats, Erie was shocked. First of all, I was explained that the “occupation” will change once I register with the guild. As for the “race”, they will usually be classified as either elf, dwarf, human or etc....

For the style, the information stated would usually be the combat style that fits the person the most. This will usually change depending on the occupation and the race.

However the part that Erie was most surprised at was at the stats.

Usually, a person’s stamina will gradually increases as a person ages but once they have pass a certain age, the stamina will start to decrease. However Ryuuta’s stamina is bottomless.

The health points for teenagers usually range between 3000-5000 but Ryuuta’s health points have already reached 37000. Even for the most abnormal cases, the highest health points an adult can reach is also only 20000.

In addition the offensive power is unexplainable. For some reason the numerical value is all garbled.

I will explain about the part on corpse. The moment when someone dies, if a necromancer casts dark arts on the person and summons them back as familiar, the person is then able to live on as a corpse in this world. However the moment the necromancer dies, the corpse will ended up being dead again.

The corpse can literally live like a normal human under the influence of the necromancer's dark arts. It is something that is not uncommon in this world.

Erie checks out my body from head to toes but when her eyes met mine, she turned away with a flushed face. She is quite cute. She has taught me various things as we eat and the dinner eventually ended.

.
. .

The fun time talking with Erie has finally passed and Erie is dozing off peacefully now.

Despite only knowing me, speaking to me and having meals with me for only one day, she became emotionally attached to me. She rested her head on my shoulder while grinning and even though I was reluctant and initially intended to shake her head off, it was still quite interesting.

I gently lay Erie on the side as she sleeps. Then Erie's mother called me.

“What is it?” [Ryuuta]

The evening wind felt really comfortable. The moon is beautiful and the stars across the sky are shining brilliantly. After displaying such a worrisome behaviour to Erie's mother, I was bracing myself for the long talk with her.

“I’m just thinking out loud.....that child, she used to be bullied last time. After that, it might be due to her heart still not being able to forgive it, she hardly spoke to anyone despite that some were her acquaintance. In that village, blonde hair is regarded as creepy so a lot had happened between her and the boys there.....That child has been keeping it to herself and never told us anything.” [Ayane]

She looked quite solemn as she recalled the story.

“Perhaps she might have not wanted to make her parents worried. It finally escalated when that item was broken. That item has always been her emotional support. It was a brooch received from her only friend after parting with her.....She became broken after that.Her heart is closed after that and she never speak out anymore. We became merchants after that incident. Once we became merchants, she can just follow us around and she didn’t need to speak with anyone or be bullied anymore.....And that is when we arrived at that place.....Please, could you help that child, Erie? She probably trusted you considerable.....” [Ayane]

Her last words were pleading me.....I wanted to believe that I can save Erie too.

She has not abandoned me when I came to this world only for the first day.

I finally made my decision.

I will do it with Erie together.

“I understand. I will definitely save Erie. I will be with her until her wounds are all healed up.....” [Ryuuta]

.
.
.

Without Ryuuta and Ayane knowing it, Erie was actually listening into their conversation.

Erie started crying.....she tried to subdue her voice as she cried.

Her mother has cherished her so much and she didn't expect Ryuuta to go that far for her sake.....She understood that Ryuuga is different from the other guys.

Special Notes:

Erie's feature: An average body and height of a middle schooler and long blonde hair.

Chapter 3 – The Sky Champion and.....

Chapter 3

Note: I seriously don't know whether the author is telling the story from the first person point of view or third person point of view. It kept changing throughout the story so I had a hard time understanding it. So I think it would be the best for me to stick to first person point of view like the first chapter.

I woke up early this morning. The main reason was because of the figure sleeping next to me. Erie's chest and thighs are too conspicuous and her face is closed to me, breathing gently as she sleeps. As a guy, this scene is too unbearable for me.

Erie's sleeping face looks similar to an angel. She is sooo~ cute! I drooled slightly and felt like hugging her right now. I would really like to see her expression as she turned red but I should hold myself back. We just knew each other for one day so if I were to do that, I don't think that she will forgive me easily.

As I was worrying endlessly about it, Erie woke up. She looked down immediately while blushing since our faces were too close. She is dangerously cute.

“Morning Erie.” [Ryuuta]

“Er...erm...good morning...Ryuuta-san.” [Erie]

When I greeted her, she returned the greeting with a smile. This is not a smile worth 100 yen. It's definitely a smile worth more than 250 yen. [TN: The heck...so cheap!!]

“Na, Erie...How much more do we have to walk today to reach the village?” [Ryuuta]

When I asked her that, she answered me without any worries. She is definitely a child of a merchant.

“Let’s see...I think if we take off from here it will be around the evening when we reach the village. However the area around the village has been recently issued as a danger zone. It seems like Garuda has flew down from the mountain to the vicinity of that area to search for food.” [Erie]

I came to a realization. I can eat that! Garuda is a strong bird type monster so the meat must be tasty as well. Erie seemed to have figured out something from my look.

“You shouldn’t do it, alright? Challenging a Garuda alone. Garuda is a huge monster categorized under Arank. They usually need at least 10 knights to defeat one.” [Erie]

She puffed up a cheek a little in anger. Oh right she did mention to me yesterday regarding B rank or A rank Garuda. The rank is usually determined by the monsters’ strength in this world. F rank is the lowest while S+ is the highest rank. The higher the rank is, the stronger the monster is.

God and Angels appears only in the mythology. The Demon King is above S+ rank while the other deities are between A to S rank.

However there is a difference between an A rank human and A rank monster. First of all is the size of the monster. For example, for a huge monster like Garuda, a large number of humans are required to subdue it. This is because there is a difference in the physical strength.

At the same time I will explain the differences in the monsters’ class below.

F ——> Quite a weak type. They can be hunted by a child alone

E ——> Quite strong. Well a single adult is able to handle them. The boar and rabbit monster that I have defeated are in this rank.

D ——> An adult with no combat experience will have difficulty with them. Overall a single adult is still able to handle them.

C ——> It will be quite impossible for a single adult to defeat them. At least three adults are required to subdue them.

B ——> They are quite strong from here on. It is advisable to have around five adults with high combat experience to go against monster with this rank.

A ——> Similar rank to a Garuda. At least 10 adults with high combat experience are required to subdue it.

S ——> Even if 20-30 people go against one, it will ended up in a pile of dead bodies.

S+ ——> A level similar to Carbuncle, Siren and Spirit. They are strong to the extent that the whole country will turn to a ruin.

Rank A to S.....are usually beings from another world. There are stories that they travelled to this world by distorting the time and space to obliterate the continent.

Rank SSS.....all the God and deities are at this level. When the God appears in this world based on the myth, causing a time compression. When the zero dimension appears, the entire world will be destroyed.

I don't think I will be fighting against God rank. However if it's a Garuda.....If possible I would like to be its opponent just to see which among us is stronger. Erie drew a big sigh while being amazed.

"It seems like no matter what I have said to Ryuuta-san, it's of no use. That is why, please try not to force yourself." [Erie]

I was hit by a pang of guilt when I see the unease look on her face. While we ended our conversation with that, Erie's mother woke up and started making preparations to continue the journey.

For some reason she was giving me a meaningful look and smiled. Shit, I have a feeling that somehow I was seen through by that mother.

When the sun rises, it's the time when the other monsters and animals also began to be active. We also started to move out around then. Even though we were going at a slow pace, it was still fun.

Erie and her mother had fun teasing me and in reverse too. This felt similar to a field trip so it was quite exciting to me. All of a sudden, I was feeling another kind excitement when I detected a reaction of a living organism similar to a Garuda flying here from the mountains. The Garuda seemed to have sensed us as well and was slowly descending here. This fight seems inevitable. While I was in deep thoughts, Erie and her mother might noticed that something was wrong when there was a heavy aura surrounding me. They slowly realized it after.

"Ryuuta? Have you possibly noticed it already from the start? That a Garuda is around this area?" [Erie]

"There is no such thing though. It's not that I kept it a secret because I wanted to fight it." [Ryuuta]

As I was jokingly answering her.....the Garuda entered the territory while fixing its gaze at us. Damn...it's really strong. My motivation suddenly burst out. I should just do it!

"Erie and Ayane-san, please move back.....that guy is only aiming for me." [Ryuuta]

I have been feeling its blood thirst since a while ago. 'A 'rank might be seriously dangerous. The Garuda cried out in intimidation. The huge body could be seen flying roughly 5 meters above in the sky.....this could be troublesome.

"Alright I shall do some warm up then!" [Ryuuta]

I focussed my energy to my entire body, preparing myself to ambush on the enemy like a beast stalking its prey. As I thought it feels great.....I could feel every single nerves and cells as if every single one of them belongs to me.

I kicked the ground and jumped up. It was the similar stunt that I used on the bandits yesterday so I could get close to it.....not. I had completely lost the sight of the Garuda. Could I be experiencing an 'A' rank monster crisis now.

This guy is fun! The Garuda suddenly launched its claw at me from above, trying to rip off the top of my head. I evaded it by a hair's breadth, rolled to its back and released my drop kick. I managed to get a hit on it this time, but it was really hard! Its muscle must have absorbed the shock.

Without giving up, I went to its right and gave another roundhouse kick to its body but I was unsure if its back was too solid or if it evaded in time, my attack didn't seem to connect at all! All of the sudden!

The Garuda turned its body to face me and released a pale blue electric from its mouth.

Shit! I was not able to evade or defend against it due to the sudden attack. I was hit directly by the electric attack that knocked me straight to the ground. I felt like all the air in my lungs has been knocked out as well.

"Ku-!!.....cough cough.....strong. There were no signs of it earlier too." [Ryuuta]

I stood up with a slight wobble. However I was bleeding all over my body. I might be thankful to it actually for not giving chase.

Once again I concentrated all my power in my body and jumped up towards the Garuda to engage in an aerial combat. If its back is too hard, what about the abdomen? The abdomen is not covered with hair so it should be easier compared to earlier! I twisted my body forcibly and slid under its abdomen.

"Uuuuaaaaa!!!" [Ryuuta]

A loud thud resounded and the Garuda staggered slightly. It worked! As I have expected the abdomen is fragile.

I landed on the ground to prepare for the next attack but as I was too reckless earlier, every part of my body was screaming in pain. I adjusted my breathing while keeping my eyes on the Garuda.

At that very moment, I was hit by a heavy impact causing my body arched. No, it felt like something similar to wind was drilling out from the ground. Not even a second after I grasped the information, Garuda started to prepare for a second attack. However I should not give it the opportunity to cast the magic a second time.

I didn't think that it was possible but could it be that a chant is not necessary to cast a magic?.....It's hard to do. It is likely that there will not be enough time for me to close in the gap to attack before it uses the next magic.

It couldn't be help.....I'll just give it a try. I concentrated and released my zombie impulse from deep inside my body.

“Ugaaaaaaaaaaa~!!!” [Ryuuta]

All the pain in the muscle and bone penetrated my body. Unlike the time when I fought earlier I maintained my composure. If I released my impulse like a beast again, my body might not be able to withstand it.